NATIONAL DOCTOR'S DAY

An initiative by RED Read. Engage. Deliver. Serving Humanity

Doctors Deserve Better!

In India, doctors are often seen as an embodiment of God. They are often held with great regard and respect in the eyes of the society. This is simply because people do realise a doctor's supreme dedication towards his patients.

Being a doctor is moreover never easy, as it comes with a huge set of responsibilities that is not everyone's cup of tea. Doctors have a hectic professional schedule and ensure that they are always available for their patients, even at odd hours.

The year 2020 has been particularly challenging for the healthcare sector, especially for doctors. The pandemic has only exacerbated the problems for our ailing healthcare sector. Before the pandemic struck, it had been known that the healthcare infrastructure of India is grossly inadequate to support the sheer size of its burgeoning population. This inadequateness led to more challenging situations for the Healthcare staff on account of the pandemic — greatly evinced from how the healthcare system of India collapsed from the sheer burden of COVID-19 caseload during the second wave of the pandemic.

CHALLENGES FACED

It was clear from the beginning that frontline warriors such as doctors and other healthcare staff are at the maximum risk of contracting the infection, irrespective of all the preventive measures that are there in place. Realising the risk, the hospital administrations across the country are proactively testing healthcare workers who are showing symptoms of the disease. The government has to ensure that healthcare facilities are not overwhelmed in the future like it did during the second wave of the coronavirus.

We also need to ensure that a lot of people don't get infected at the same time, for which vaccination becomes a must. Also, people are advised to maintain social distancing, excellent hygiene and to stay at home as far as possible.

Shield30, a Next-Gen Sanitization Technology that Provides 99.99% Protection from Surface-borne Covid Infection, Launched

Even as the daily caseload of India's coronavirus infections, during the second wave, exceeds more than Five lakhs, Shield30, a disruptive sanitization technology, is launched in India. This revolutionary, water-based antimicrobial surface treatment technology from New Zealand provides 99.99% protection from surface-borne infection of Coronaviruses and a host of other pathogens.

Surface transmission continues to pose a significant risk, as the Covid virus spreads through contaminated surfaces, known as fomites. Studies show that SARS-CoV-2 can persist on plastic and stainless steel for up to 6 days. It lasts for days on any hard materials including books, textile products - synthetic or natural made, and even on surgical masks. Hence, frequent disinfection of surfaces and objects in common places that are routinely used by several people is important. The need of the hour also is a breakthrough in the methods of disinfection that replaces chemical based sanitizers, which are harmful for the environment, and are also not very safe for people, children and pets.

One of the prominent users of Shield30 is Meenakshi Mission Hospital and Research Centre, Madurai.

Dr. S. Gurushankar, its chairman said that Shield30 provides 99.99% protection for patients, doctors, and staff against surface-borne infection of viruses, germs and bacteria. The hospital covers its entire premises right from the reception to operation theatres with Shield30 disinfectant solution. Medically, a big benefit of the 'physical' killing approach of Shield30 is that for the pathogens there is nothing to learn and develop their resistance and become superbugs, over time.

PRESENTING SHIELD 30. A REVOLUTIONARY NEW WAY TO KEEP HOMES, OFFICES, SHOPS AND RESTAURANTS GERM-FREE. We are living in unprecedented times. That is why we need a disinfectant that is unlike any ordinary cleaning solution. Shield 30 is that solution. Unlike other disinfectants, Shield 30 is not chemical based; it uses nano technology to physically destroy disease causing germs. This means Shield 30 is always completely effective, against all kinds of pathogens and germs, no matter how many times they mutate. And the best part: you can apply Shield 30 once, and stay protected for 30 days. No more frequent disinfecting, and no more worries about forgetting to clean up.
